Nirvana Hotels develops its sustainability-focused practices by prioritizing guest comfort and environmental sensitivity:

- By using refillable bottles, plastic consumption is reduced by 24% compared to 50 ml single-use bottles. For soap selection, liquid soap is preferred considering the environmental impact, thus prioritizing sustainability and waste reduction.
- To help guests reduce their environmental impact, "Choose Green" door cards are placed in the rooms. Rooms of guests who use this card are serviced differently from daily cleaning standards (emptying trash and replacing towels left on the floor). This promotes water, detergent, and energy savings while encouraging guests to demonstrate environmental awareness. Guests contributing in this way can enjoy special benefits offered by hotel management.
- Guests are given the option to control water and detergent consumption by determining the frequency of changing their sheets. They can communicate this preference to their personal assistants, thereby contributing to the protection of nature.
- It is recommended that towels intended for reuse be hung, while those not intended for use be left on the bathroom or room floor. This simple step helps prevent unnecessary water and detergent consumption.
- Printed materials in guest rooms are minimized to ensure paper conservation. Information on room service menus, room details, safe usage, and special events such as Cosmos Theatre and Cosmos Moonlight is provided via QR codes in the rooms.
- Nespresso capsules used in rooms are separated for recycling. The waste coffee inside is converted into electricity through biogas conversion, while aluminum parts are recycled. In this context, collaboration with Nespresso supports eco-friendly practices.
- To preserve the freshness of the fruits and prevent waste, fruit request cards are sent to guests who stay regularly at the facility. This practice helps prevent waste and ensures efficient use of resources.

These practices represent just a few of the important steps Nirvana Hotels takes to share its environmental protection and sustainability approach with its guests, contributing to a better world.
